Telomeres are maintained by telomerase and its absence or decrease function can result in telomere progressive loss of length which leads to instability and senescence.

But to keep doing it after you know? There are labels for things like that.